A. L. B., Hartford, Conn.-President Lincoln issued two proclamations in regard to deserters and President Grant one. The first was dated March 10, 1863. It promised all who returned before April 1, 1863, remission of punishment, excepting pay and allowance during the time of their absence. The second was dated March 11, 1865. This promised all who would return within 60 days a pardon, provided the remainder of their term of service was honor-able. The third was issued Oct. 10, 1873. This warned all deserters that if they would surrender themselves any military station before Jan. 1, 1874, a full pardon, only forfeiting pay and allowance due at the time of desertion. They were to be restored to duty with out punishment, on condition of faithful service thru their term of enlistment.

Andersonville Prison

GREAT PREMIUM OFFER

The National Tribune and O'Dea's Famous Andersonville Picture for $1.40

PICTURE IS FIVE FEET LONG BY THREE AND ONE-HALF FEET HIGH.

PAC SIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL DRAWING. The picture of Andersonville by Comrade Thomas O'Dea, drawn from memory, is the best pictorial representation of that terrible torture pen. It shows with fidelity not only the lines of the stockade and the scenes in the interior of the prison, but its representations of the dead house, the burial of the thick coming dead, and other scenes and incidents which are indelibly impressed upon the memory of all those who were there. The picture is artistically executed and printed upon heavy paper suitable for framing. It has a historical value not approached by any other attempt to represent Andersonville in a picture. Comrade O'Dea was for a long time imprisoned in Andersonville, and had the artistic ability to put upon paper the sights that he saw there

THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE has acquired all the remaining pictures of the famous Andersonville Prison. We did not buy them to sell, but to be given away as premiums with THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE.
